NATIONAL KNOWLEDGE
IS NATIONAL POWER.

The Canadian figures show the necessity for investing every dollar required in educational facilities. Canada's population is cosmopolitan; hundreds of different tongues are represented. The welding of these together and demonstrating to them of the necessity for education in order that the individual may progress and the nation continue to advance was looked upon once as a gigantic problem. It is an important task but the majority of the citizens in each province, no matter from what nation they may have come, enter into the question in the proper spirit. The result has been that Canada today stands far above many of the countries of the world as regards educational facilities. The work is an important one and should be carried out to the fullest degree for upon the education of the common people depends the success of the nation.

The police department is urging proprietors of rooming houses to lock their buildings. The roomers in that case would be forced to resort to the fire escape to gain entrance to their rooms.

"We shall show," said Attorney Devlin to the jury, "that the purpose of this trip was not as stated in the indictment, but that the purpose was to enable the defendants only to leave Sacramento for a short time to avoid notoriety; that they had at first intended to go to the state prison, but that they changed their minds when they learned that it never was their intention to leave the state, but simply to get out of Sacramento; that they missed a train for Los Angeles and took the next one, which was the train to San Francisco."

Other testimony which the defense promised to introduce would go to show that the defendants were believed to be the truth about the reasons for leaving Sacramento; that the defendants were not to be covered then all with shame and involve them all in prosecutions.

"The counsel for the defense announced today might that Mrs. Diggs and Mrs. Gammon, the two women who would take the stand for their husbands, and that Diggs would testify in its own behalf with these three witnesses. The defense also announced that it would call no more witnesses and that the case is not later than Wednesday. There will be no court session today or Monday."

MID-SUMMER to the average woman represents the time of holiday making and freedom from anxiety on the score of clothes but in New York designers and tailors are busy planning for the coming season and there are straws flying about that are indicative of what is to come and they possess certain interest in spite of the fact that they do not represent any immediate need. There is so much discussion on the subject of the narrow skirt that it is hardly too soon to say that it promises to extend its vogue throughout the coming season though with such variations and modifications as to relieve its severity and less fortunate points. Drapery is to make a feature, it is asserted, and it is really marvelous to note what drapery can be effected without destroying the general narrow effect and without cutting the material. A really important feature of the new models as they are being shown is to be found in the skirts and wraps that are made of a single strip of cloth or other fabric of the fifty-two or fifty-four inch width. Designers and makers appear to have learned many lessons in this direction within the past few months and not a few of the skirts that are exploited seem hardly possible without seams yet in reality are so made, folds, plaits and occasional darts accomplishing all that is needful. A great deal of the fulness is arranged between the hips and the knees and it is claimed that such treatment allows ample room both for sitting and walking without the necessity for width at the lower edge. In any event, the effects are many of them, graceful and attractive and the folds taken by the beautiful soft fabrics unquestionably relieve the narrow skirt of its greatest objections.

THE simple bath robe with big collar is being much worn this season and this one is designed for small women as well as for young girls. It is thoroughly comfortable, it is loose and ample, yet it takes graceful and becoming lines. In the illustration elderson flannel is trimmed with bands of ribbon, but bath robes are made from blankets with great success, from the cotton flannels that are shown in singularly pretty designs and from the heavy Turkish toweling that can be had in plain colors and in stripes. For trimming any contrasting material is appropriate, but silk and ribbon have especial vogue.

Simple kimono made with the sleeves and body portion in one, in true Japanese style, always are favorites. This one can be made just as illustrated or with slightly longer sleeves gathered into bands and it can be cut off to sacque length, with the result that it is adapted to many needs. Almost numberless materials are used for kimono in these days but nothing is prettier than the Japanese cotton crepe illustrated. It is trimmed with silk bands and it is in every way attractive as well as practical. Among pretty novelties must be mentioned extremely light weight flannel worn in flowered effects and genuine kimono silks, but simpler materials such as cashmere, crepe and the like, are in every way appropriate. Here is a negligee that is eminently attractive, yet so simple that any girl can make one. The neck edge is finished with big collar and revers that are exceedingly smart and the sleeves can be gathered at their lower edges and finished with prettily shaped cuffs, or left loose as liked.

THE new wraps, even those designed for late summer, give evidence of the same idea. A charming cape especially suited to the younger contingent gives the effect of a burnouse hood at the back and falls about the figure in beautiful folds and it consists only of one strip of soft broadcloth manipulated by an artist in matters of designing. Cords and tassels always seem the natural accompaniment of drapery and are generously used upon wraps, frequently as finish for the draped skirts.

Pretty Models for Dainty Underwear

COMBINATION undergarments are almost universal just now for nothing else is so completely satisfactory beneath fashionable gowns. In the illustration, it shows one princess garment that serves the purpose of both corset cover and petticoat and one semi-princess that combines corset cover and four gored petticoat. The princess garment takes perfectly straight, narrow lines and can be closed at either the front or the back and made with round or square neck while the lower edge can be finished in any way that may be liked. All the dainty laces and tulle and the cotton crinolines that are so much liked for underwear are pretty and the trimming can be varied to suit the individual taste. Lace and embroidery are standbys but many girls like hand embroidery and it is unquestionably dainty.

Fashion Notes

THIS is a summer of pretty feminine accessories. Sashes play a conspicuous part and are really very beautiful. Flowered ribbons and some of the very new, handsome ones with velvet brocaded flowers upon a silk background are really superb on the white gowns, and happily are more often seen than the more brilliant colors to be found in the Bulgarian and Cubist designs. For slender figures, the Bayard style wound gracefully around the hips as well as the waist is pretty and is much liked but all such novelties should be handled with care. When they are becoming they are charming but when the figure does not admit of the treatment, the effect can mean only disaster. Clever girls tie the sashes just where they are becoming, at the side, or at the back or at the front and either in the mouselines or Japanese bow or in upstanding loops as suits the peculiar need. Velvet ribbons are greatly used too and often black velvet gives a smart finish not to be obtained by any other means. Main dresses with sashes and quaint little costumes worn thereover are accompanied by broad Leghorn hats flower-trimmed, and such costumes are really delightful for garden parties, afternoon drives and occasions of the kind. The daytime dresses have been carried into the summer with the result that a great many costumes adapted to dancing yet simple enough for daytime wear are in demand. For their making, lace flouncings are much liked and very charming, dainty costumes are evolved that seem eminently well suited to just such use. A pretty one completed today and designed for a trip to the mountains, is made entirely of shadow lace flouncing over a slip of mesaline. The skirt consists of three flounces, each overlapping the other, and beneath the scalloped edges are arranged bands of black tulle. The bodice is perfectly plain in kimono style, two widths of the flouncing being used and joined at the front where there is set a row of little buttons. The finished edges form the sleeves and terminate halfway to the elbows and beneath their edges is arranged lace of narrow width, giving slightly additional length. The neck is half low and round completed by a plaiting of narrow lace and, accompanying the costume, there are several sashes, one of flowered and the others of plain ribbons in different colors. The touch of black finishing the edges is somewhat important, for black in some such way is used upon a great many of the smartest gowns. It accentuates the color effect, it seems to enhance and act as a foil for everything else and in its latest development it is seen in tulle. Pretty little bows are much used, of the black tulle with glittering jeweled slides, as finish for the round collars on simple costumes, and frequently one sees velvet or folded tulle used to a dig collar with just a simple slide as fastener, for black in this is kind to us all and black in one of these ways often gives the smart touch that means distinction. It has been truly said that the fashionable woman of the summer is copying the butterfly in many ways and the effect is mainly achieved by the extensive use of the tulle. It appears in bows, it appears in effective trimming for hats, it appears in sashes and its very latest form is the bow referred to above with the loops in real butterfly outline and the centers when the purse allows of diamonds, when economy is to be considered of rhinestones. Sashes are tied in butterfly bows that frequently give the effect of a butterfly with spread wings and some of the newest corset effects take the form of a butterfly bow of tulle that is arranged one color over the other to give not the form alone but something of the color effect as well.

Rex Beach has long been noted for the thrills and atmosphere provided in his novels, which have established themselves as equally successful in dramatized form as between the covers of a book. His latest work is demonstrated in no uncertain manner in "The Spoilers," which will be presented with its wealth of scenic embellishment at the Lyceum theatre by the Toronto Players all next week.

The name of Rex Beach is one to conjure with in the world of fiction, for it is he who has given Alaska and the frozen north so much recognition during the last 10 years with such novels as "The Barren," "The Spoilers," "The Silver Horde" and "The Ne'er Do Wells," three of which have been dramatized with commendable success.

In presenting "The Spoilers," Manager George Ayresworth, of the Lyceum theatre, announces the opening of the fall season, which brings with it the largest and most pretentious productions ever seen here in dramatic stock. Large and complete scenic investiture and costume will mark all of the efforts of the Toronto Players from next week on, while an augmented company of players will visualize the various plays chosen for presentation by the management.

The production of "The Spoilers" will bring back to Edmonton Edward Hearn as leading man. Mr. Hearn, it will be remembered, played with the Lyceum stock company just previous to the present local engagement of the Toronto Players at the Lyceum. He is a tall, handsome young man, possessing an excellent voice, and is otherwise well adapted to the leading roles to which he will be assigned during the fall and winter engagement of the Toronto Players.

Melanes are played at the Lyceum every Wednesday and Saturday.

"SEAT OF THE EMPIRE."

"I see no reason why, in time, this vast country of Canada should not become the seat of the British Empire," said H. H. D. Stevenson, Lord Provost of the city of Glasgow, Scotland, who arrived in Winnipeg this morning on his way west, where he will spend two weeks looking round the country.

BURGLARS SAVED
"THE STOWAWAY"

Piece Was Doomed Until Circus Man Conceived Idea of Having Safe Cracked on Stage.

J. C. Nugent, who comes to the Lyceum theatre the first half of next week as a feature of the Orpheum vaudeville shows, will be remembered as a member of the famous Jacob Litt stock company a few years back. Discussing stage successes and failures, Mr. Nugent said recently:

"I was in one of Mr. Litt's elaborate productions. No doubt you remember it—"The Stowaway." It was one of the most elaborate and beautiful plays I ever saw. But, oh, what a gigantic failure! There had been a lot of money spent. It was one of Mr. Litt's first ventures, and it nearly broke his heart. Our agent was an old-time circus manager, Tom Davis. Mr. Litt appealed to Davis as to what could be done. 'Hold on,' said Davis. 'I have an idea. Let me try to think I can make a go of it.' 'Go as far as you like, Tom, but I think the case is hopeless,' was the reply.

"There were in the play lines about a burglar cracking a safe, but there was no scene showing this. So Davis wrote in the scene, built a practical safe, and engaged two professional burglars—Kit McCoy and Spike Hennessy. It then sprang the burglar on the public, advertised it extensively, and maintained a great secrecy as to their identity. Not a living soul knew who they were. They were brought to and from the theatre wearing their masks and with their all of tools, in a closed carriage. Not only were the members of the company deeply interested, but the public as well. There were crowds around to published columns about these two famous burglars and their exploits.

"The result was crowded houses everywhere. These two burglars did for the play what art could not. We did not find out their identity until the end of the season, when at the last performance they took off their masks. Then, to our great surprise, these two famous burglars turned out to be our property man and his assistant."

PEARL BUDDHAS.

The pearl Buddha is likely to be the most fashionable charm this summer. In London he is to be seen at the jewellers' and silversmiths' exhibition at the agricultural hall, where only a privileged few may enter, and where the cases of precious exhibits are guarded night and day.

The Buddha, originated with the Japanese. Small iron plates engraved with his likeness are thrust between the shell and the oyster. Later, when the fish is taken away, the plate is found overlaid with the pearly substance; the plate is removed and a backing of mother pearl and wax is applied. Then the little pearly looking figure is ready to be mounted.

"I have made a discovery," Mr. Burgess tells. "I have discovered by actual fact that the mind of an actor influences the audience more than his personality or his physical appearance. Of course, everything done on the stage must appeal primarily to the eye, and an actor with a fine stage presence, as we call it, has a distinct advantage over a commonplace person."

BRAINS DOMINATE
EVERYTHING ELSE

Says William Burgess at Empire Next Week—Secret of Living's Success.

William Burgess, the character actor who dominates "The New Song Birds," which remarkable contribution to the American vaudeville stage comes to the Empire theatre the first half of next week as the headliner of the Orpheum bill, is reckoned with the brainy actors of the present day. Consequently his views about his art ought to be accepted as coming from an actor well qualified to decide himself.

"I have made a discovery," Mr. Burgess tells. "I have discovered by actual fact that the mind of an actor influences the audience more than his personality or his physical appearance. TROUPE OF ARABS
PANTAGES STARS

Have Acrobatic Act That is a Whirlwind—Other Good Turns.

Next week at the Pantages there will be an act that is entirely new in vaudeville. The faces will not be the first usually seen on the Canadian or American performers, but those of Arabs who will appear with the Arabian band troupe in one of the swiftest acrobatic acts on the vaudeville stage today. In all there are 15 performers in the act.

A true story of Indian life will be told in the act to be presented by J. C. Nugent and company, "The Indian Tugboat." It is an act full of tragic incidents and one that is interesting from the start to the finish.

Pony Moore and Davey will appear in their charming daughter Pitt, will appear in a novel dancing act. Pitt is no other but the young miss who created such a sensation on the American stage several months ago.

The Juggling Barretts have a hat throwing and cup manipulating act. They are clever in their line of work and can throw a hat several feet away and make it return to them while in the air and without any other person touching it.

Davey Moore, who comes to the Pantages all next week in one of vaudeville's most delightful dance acts and is supported by his wife and daughter Pitt, was the target for a few humorous remarks shortly after he came into the limelight of stagecraft.

Davey hails from Boston and had been trying to get a place with some of the companies while here. After a bit he got tired and made such success of his part that his managers paid him a large salary. His closest friends were delighted with his success and never failed to say so and incidentally always remarked on the big money Davey was drawing.

One of his friends was relating some of Davey's exploits in his early days when one of the ladies interrupted him. "By the way," said she, "what has become of Davey Moore lately? I haven't heard of him for a couple of months."

"I'll say," said the other, "there of him, you don't need to, he has made all the money in the world and is after more."

"NEW SONG BIRDS"
HEADLINES BILL

Orpheum Patrons Will See Elaborate Staged Travesty Next Week.

Originality as well as elaborateness is promised for the Orpheum vaudeville bill at the Empire theatre the first half of next week. It is "The New Song Birds," and offers a most entertaining travesty on present conditions in grand opera. The names of the writer and composer are sufficient to insure quality of the first order—George V. Robert, as librettist, and Victor Herbert, as composer. The libretto is a caricature of the Metropolitan opera, which is, naturally, Hammerstein's great opposition. Thirty people and very elaborate staging are required for the presentation.

Everybody who knows vaudeville knows J. C. Nugent, who became popular with such comedies as "The Veteran," "The Rounder," "The Firebrand," and "The Squarer." This year he is appearing in "The Regular," a new sketch in which Mr. Nugent first appears as a monologist, and then takes part in a story whose other characters are a young woman visiting New York from Logansport, Indiana. There is an interesting little complication and the happy ending in which the young man takes his little friend to go back to Logansport and the family circle.

Allen and Logan are two lively, versatile young men who call their melange of singing, dancing and comedy by the name of "Odd Nonsense." The adjective "enjoyable" might well be added to the description.

A young man who gained some valuable stage experience with Melvins and Health is Carl McCullough, who has a series of what he calls "Foot-light Impressions." He has also been a success in musical comedy, and is now making more than good in vaudeville.

Lane and O'Donnell are sensational tumblers, acrobats and contortionists, and their act is staged with due regard for the popularity of comedy. The new take some really startling falls, and now make more than good in vaudeville.

Dancing pianists—that is, performers who can dance and play the piano simultaneously—are sufficiently rare to command great attention and admiration. Two young men possessed of these combined accomplishments are Handers and Allises, recent arrivals from England. They add some singing to a most entertaining performance, which closes with an acrobatic dance.

Scientific interest, as well as theatrical entertainment, forms an element in the turn presented by Demetrius with his "Wonder Lamp." The lamp projects upon the screen the reflection, in perfect natural colors, and largely increased in size, of various objects, such as flowers, fruit, etc., as well as buildings and pieces of sculpture. It is an act which has enjoyed great success in Europe.

The World's New Views, which now form an important feature of the Orpheum vaudeville bills, will again be seen to advantage with a new and interesting series of subjects.

PONY PAINTS

Pony Moore, who is one of the newly dancers in an act at the Pantages next week, is credited with being the cause of the following story.

Some time ago a theatrical manager was anxious for the young woman to sign a contract for a number of weeks. Repeated phone messages failed to bring any answer and finally the manager took a train to the city where Pony Moore was supposed to be and to notify her in person that the contract was awaiting her signature.

The door of the house was open when the manager arrived, and there were many signs to indicate that the occupant was not far away. It was only when the manager stood in the front yard and inspected the house that fully that he discovered his client. Suspended from the roof and sitting on a pair of Roman rings, his guest was calmly painting the gables of her house.

Good Things for Next Season

In spite of the turmoil in Eastern theatrical circles which seems imminent at present, Edmonton will receive the same treatment at the hands of the amusement moguls in the matter of first-class attractions as it received during the last few months when a record of first-class stars and plays had been made.

Already Manager Russell of the Empire theatre has three shows booked for the fall season, and several other attractions will ultimately fall in line. The trio listed so far includes "O'Rourke 666" which scored one of the biggest laughing hits of last season. "The Barren" will invariably receive a hearty welcome in Western Canada, and Annie Russell, who will probably be seen in her masterpiece, "Twelfth Night."

Orpheum Manager W. D. Buege promises a truly remarkable galaxy of stars to appear here as headliners of Orpheum programs during the next month weeks. Following the "New Song Birds" will come William J. Dooley, a comedian of sterling qualities in "The Lawn Party," a novel musical act including 10 juvenile proteges, who can sing and dance. Sharing headline honors during the first half of the week of September will be Charlotte Parry, the famous American protean actress, and Lambert and Ball, two fun-makers of international reputation. September welcomes Lulu Glaser, that whom there is no better known singing comedian on the American stage. She comes in "First Love," a nest little song skit, which has scored somewhat of a hit in the East since the opening of the fall and winter theatrical season.

RODIN SETS FASHION.

Waterproof soup, stowed mutton with boiled potatoes, and Normandy cream and cheese have become the diet of artistic persons in the Latin quarter since it has been discovered that this is the sculptor Rodin's regular menu at a cheap eating house on Boulevard Saint-Germain, where he takes luncheon daily.

ONLY WEATHER
FAVORABLE TO
GRAIN GROWTH

Government Report States that Western Conditions Were Excellent.

CROP SHOULD BE AS GOOD AS ANY SEASON

Spring Wheat, Oats and Barley and Wheat Better than For Five Years.

Ottawa, Aug. 15.—In a bulletin issued today the census and statistics office reports that according to the returns made by crop reporting correspondents at the end of last month, the weather of July was on the whole favorable to the growth of grain crops. The conditions in the northwest provinces were reported as generally excellent. Representing a full crop by 100, the average condition throughout Canada of fall wheat is expressed as 77.75, of spring wheat at 87.62, of oats as 87.45, of barley 87.39, of rye 86.00, of mixed grain as 89.35 and of flax seed as 83.86.

The percentages of the standard condition of spring wheat, barley and rye represent the promise of yields per acre for spring wheat of six, for barley of five, for rye of two, and for flax of one percent above the average yield per acre of the last five years.

All the field crops of Canada on July 31, excepting only fall wheat (77.75) and of clover (71.37) and of alfalfa (75.35) are represented as having a condition above 80, the range being from 42 for beans and corn for husking to 89 for potatoes and mixed grains.

Spring Wheat Good.

In the three northwest provinces spring wheat is reported as 84.00 in Manitoba, 89 in Saskatchewan and 88 in Alberta, the other grain crops being correspondingly high, barley usually being 85 to 90, and corn for husking to 89 for potatoes and mixed grains.

The condition of buckwheat in the maritime provinces and in Quebec is 60 and over, but in Ontario it is down to 42.43. Flax seed is above 80 in the northwest provinces and in Saskatchewan where the great bulk of this crop is grown, the percentage condition is 84.17. Sugar beet, grown for best root sugar in Ontario and Alberta, is 80.44 for the former and 92.31 for the latter provinces.

The preliminary estimate of the yield of fall wheat is 22.23 3/4 bushels, which for the harvested area in Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia of 8,600,000 acres indicates a total yield of 15,482,000 bushels, as compared with 16,396,000 bushels for 1912. This yield is 45 percent above that of last year.

The average yield per acre of hay and clover is estimated at 1,241 tons, indicating a yield of 9,397,500 tons from 7,621,000 acres, as compared with 11,890,000 tons from 7,638,000 acres or a 1.47 ton per acre in 1912. Alfalfa with an average yield per acre of 1.28 tons shows an estimated total production of 14,900 tons from 10,425 acres, as compared with 11,857 tons from 14,440 acres or 1.02 tons per acre in 1912.

WILL RUSH THROUGH MINOT.

Devils Lake, N.D., Aug. 15.—Four passenger coaches containing 200 passengers were sidetracked here yesterday and taken of train number 5, on the N. Y., as most of the men were wearing I. V. A special train will be made up here picking up four more coaches of passengers at Rugby and the train will be rushed through Minot without stopping.

MISSIONARY SHOT DEAD.

Constantinople, Aug. 15.—Bible house today received a telegram reporting that the Rev. Charles Holbrooke, an American missionary, had been shot and killed at Soukhar, a village 80 miles east of Stiva, a town of Asiatia Turkey, 465 miles from Constantinople. Details of the shooting are lacking here.

"NA-DU-GO DYSPEPSIA"

Tablets

Proved of Great Value to Me

There is only one explanation for the numbers of enthusiastic letters that we receive praising Na-Du-Co Dyspepsia Tablets, and that is that these tablets certainly do cure any kind of stomach trouble.

Here is a typical letter from Miss Milla Armstrong, Canoe, N.B.:

"I am writing to you to inform you that your Na-Du-Co Dyspepsia Tablets have proved of great value to me. I tried them after supper but without any lasting good. Having heard of your tablets curing such cases as mine, I decided to give them a fair trial. They proved satisfactory in my case."

The remarkable success of Na-Du-Co Dyspepsia Tablets is such a success as can only come to an honest remedy, compounded according to an exact formula, by good formula, from pure ingredients, by expert chemists. If you are troubled with your stomach, just see your Druggist about Na-Du-Co Dyspepsia Tablets, compounded by the National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, and sold throughout the country.

At the present time there is no direct steamship service from the Indian Empire to Canada, it being necessary to break the voyage at Hong Kong.

If the Hindus are successful in characterizing a direct service then the problem becomes more serious and acute, and will call for delicate handling. It is understood that Premier McBride will lay the whole question with all its phases before Mr. Borden.

ELEVATOR FOR CALGARY.

Calgary, Aug. 15.—The announcement that one of the three tenders offered by the government proposed to build in the west is to be located in Calgary, was contained in a telegram from H. B. Bennett, M.P. for Calgary, who went to Edmonton to meet John D. Borden.

The news was received during a session of the board of directors of the Calgary Elevator Co. which will have a capacity of 3,000,000 and will be in the neighborhood of $1,000,000.

McLean was a man of about 30 years of age, of medium build, with dark hair and eyes, and was wearing a dark suit and a white shirt.

LEUDUC SECTION IDEAL FOR MIXED FARMING

Dairying, Cattle, Hogs, Horses, Garden Produce, Grain, Hay, and All Branches of Agriculture and Stock Raising Developing at the Town of Leduc, One of the Richest and Most Prosperous Sections Throughout the Province.

(By A. M. BRAY.)

During the last few years Leduc has been well known as the centre of a district which can hardly be bettered when viewed in the light of a mixed farming country, and this fact is being more widely recognized every day. It is here that the man who goes in for mixed farming with the determination to make good, in an average amount of grey matter and a few hundred dollars will find that neither his efforts nor his money have been in any means wasted.

This is no theoretical statement, but plain fact. If proofs were needed one has only to think of a few of those who came to Leduc some years ago—and not so very many either—who had at that time a very limited supply of the necessary, every cent of which they put into their farms and homesteads. They were confident that they would see good markets in the near future for the produce which they felt they could raise, knowing that they had the resources of a country almost ideal for the purposes of mixed farming.

What has been the result of this belief in the country? There could be but one result to such conditions and such strongly based optimism; briefly, it is they "have made good." They are now prosperous farmers who can afford to look back and laugh at their early struggles to get a start. Others have rented or sold their farms and have started in business in the busy little town which provides the farmers with a market, and are living dividends of the old wage that the farmer is always a poor business man.

Big Pay Days.

The only practical method of giving an idea of amount of business done in this direction is by stating that the two dairies in Leduc, the Edmonton City Dairy and the Harris Dairy Products Co., each pay out some 5,000 dollars every month to the farmers around Leduc. There is quite enough for both these dairies to do profitable business, and the amount of business that they handle is increasing steadily. Both dairies show a very marked increase of business since last year, showing that the farmers are realizing the pecuniary commitments to be obtained in this line, and also that they are getting a square deal and the right price for their milk and cream, butter and eggs.

Cheese Manufacture.

An industry which is of great importance to the farmer is the manufacture of cheese, and a cheese factory has recently been started in Leduc near the town, where the cream from the dairies is made by the Harris Leduc Cheese Co. Their specialty is the Swiss cheese, which is made in Canmore, but the produce from the Leduc farmers goes into its composition.

Considerable Poultry.

Almost all the farms have their poultry, which proves an asset to the yearly income, there always being a ready and profitable market for eggs, but foremost among the poultry families come Mr. Telford, and Mr. Jackson.

Ons Diligent Crop.

By far the largest proportion of satisfactory outcome. There is undoubtedly a good opening for a mill, and the farmers would find a great boon, and they would contribute a large amount of custom work besides consuming a large portion of the mill's output, not only of flour but of bran and shorts, etc. There was a flour mill in Leduc some years ago which was doing very well until it was destroyed by fire.

Harvest Soon Ready.

The cutting of grain should start in a week or 10 days now, and the elevators expect to be very busy about the 1st of October, though they expect to be able to handle all that comes in. Timothy is very largely grown in these parts. Not much clover is grown here to date, but there is always some white clover. Practically no alfalfa is grown either, though one man who tried some as an experiment a few years back is reported to have obtained very good results.

Nearly all the farmers raise a few horses, but none of them go in solely for "equine." There are some very good horses in the neighborhood nevertheless, and the average farmer usually has a class looking horse in his stable.

In short, it is a mixed farming district, "in excellent," and the farmers are well-to-do and making steady progress because they do not put all their eggs into one basket, but have their grain, cattle, hogs, horses and, last but by no means least, their dairy products to depend on. This is the sort of district which wins out in the long run.

ACTIVE BOARD OF LEUDUC TRADE AND DEVELOPMENT

Member of the Central Alberta Development League—Hot After Flour Mill.

Leduc has its board of trade to forward the interests of the community. The board is a member of the Central Alberta Development League and through this has done no small amount of publicity work for the central portion of the province of Alberta. Mr. C. W. Gaetz is president of the board and Mr. W. M. Chartres is secretary.

The board has on hand some literature on the town and district and is considering issuing more. It gives its operation to all publicity efforts of merit and handles a large correspondence. The board has been active in engaged in influencing flour mill interests to consider Leduc as a desirable location for a flour mill, and negotiations are pending with several flour mill men at this time. That the merits of trade of the world have been slackened in their pace by a monetary stringency, Leduc would have been after some other industry now, for the flour mill would have been realized.

SOME FAIR EACH YEAR AT LEUDUC

Prize Stuff is Exhibited and Display Ranks Second to None in Province.

Leduc holds an agricultural fair each fall. The exhibition is one of the best in the province as to quality of exhibits. Last year the poultry exhibit at the Leduc fair ranked second in the province as to magnitude. The Edmonton fair could boast of but 200 more fowls exhibited than were at the Leduc exhibition. At this fair there is garden produce brought so far as 170 miles to be exhibited. Prize stuff is to be found among the exhibits, stock, poultry, grain, etc., which takes premiums at the exhibitions of Edmonton and Calgary, and various towns larger than Leduc. The annual fair has grown annually in proportion to the development of the territory.

LEUDUC MADE JUST AS DEMAND REQUIRED

fortunate in having a live and efficient fire brigade, through whose alertness and diligence many dangerous conflagrations have been averted.

A reference to the town of Leduc would be incomplete without touching upon the district of which it is the county seat, and center of the best mixed farming area in Alberta. The soil is unsurpassed in productiveness, and the country is slightly rolling with a large percentage of open prairie. There are at the same time on every section bluffs of timber and growths of small trees adding to the general appearance and affording material for building, fencing and fuel.

The quality of grain is safe to say, is unequalled by that of any grain grown in the world, and in yield per acre and weight per bushel all other districts concede Leduc first place. The Canadian Alberta Development League and other public bodies in Leduc never fail to collect from our district samples of grains and grasses to be shown at the large fairs and exhibitions.

Stock Raising.

The district is well adapted to the raising of cattle and hogs, and the shipments are large. Each of the large packing plants of Edmonton have permanent buying agents at Leduc. The position of the district so near to Edmonton makes this industry as well as the marketing of dairy products particularly profitable.

The country district is efficiently supplied with rural telephone, the larger number of farmers being in touch with every part of the province through the long distance. The government has on the programme and the poles ready on the ground the undertaking of building sixty more miles of telephones this year. This will leave very few farmers without service.

The district is peopled with a mixed population of sturdy farmers, Canadian, American, Swedish, German, French and Italian. Among important settlements are Beaumont, Clearwater, New Sarepta, Yule Meadow, Mill, O'Mara, Invermay, Thorburn, Conquest, Greer, Pellyville, Pellyville, Culm, Mithcanen, Gilchrist and others all tributary to Leduc.

Want Demonstration Farm.

One of the needs of the farmers of the district and one which they are clamorous for is the establishment of a demonstration farm at Leduc. The farmers, being largely foreigners, as stated, cannot avail themselves of the benefit of reading our agricultural and general literature on the subject of farming. They are, however, industrious and ambitious and the plan of a demonstration farm would be a boon to our district.

Fighting Weeds.

Leduc farmers are taking great pains to keep the weeds from starting in this section. Their farms are remarkably free from this pest. They are very careful in the selection of seed for their grain and grasses and during the past few years have raised the standard considerably.

TOWN THAT NEVER HAS BEEN BOOMED

best territory for all kinds of farming and money making. They tell you they have a cutting second town, business is good, there is room for more business men, there will be a steady growth and development of the town until the entire tributary territory is settled and developed—and not more than 10 per cent. is developed now—and they will extend you a hearty invitation to come and be a resident of the town or the district.

Stringency Hardly Felt.

The business men of Leduc state, with one or two exceptions, that they have not felt any financial stringency as regards business, that they are doing more this year than last year, that the percentage of cash business is even larger than last year, but the district is such that the manipulations of the money market of the world has no effect upon the amount of milk a cow will give or the percentage of butterfat, do not stunt the growth of the springing chickens or keep the hens from laying, the chickens from hatching, the colts from growing. If the price of grain is down something else is up and to get ahead of a Leduc farmer, the money sharks and manipulators would have to sit up nights and work overtime. Hence, business here advanced and Leduc merchants have larger turnovers than a year ago.

Merchants Energetic.

Leduc merchants and business men are awake and energetic. They have first-class business houses, carry the best brands and best grades in all mercantile lines, and transact business in a business way. Many interesting street scenes are to be seen at the town of Leduc which evidence the commercial life of the locality. Every day of the year the main street is lined with farm wagons and vehicles of farmers, who have brought produce to market for consumption, for sale through commission houses or direct to the consumer. Nearly every wagon that comes to Leduc is characterized by its milk and cream cans. On this street we are bound to see a man of the more or less recent type, (often are used very extensively in the driving team, work wagons, trucks and automobiles. It is not so long ago that the automobile was a long stride and took many years to make a long drive. It has been seen side by side at almost any time. Also some samples of an old car you would want to look was sold on the ground only. There is considerable of it that is still owned by Mr. Telford. The town got a start in this same 1893, for two stores were built one by Mr. Vin, Douglas and another by Mrs. N. B. Heath. They were of the general merchandise variety, a nucleus of what is called depopulated stores today. From that year the town has been growing steadily, and in 1903, the town now has more than a score of business houses at three elevators. All professions—except dentistry—are represented. There is a weekly newspaper, published in the town which chronicles the social and commercial progress of the section.

In the year 1908 Leduc settlement was incorporated as a village, and in 1906 it was incorporated as a town, with Mr. C. W. Gaetz as its first mayor. For three years he served in that capacity. In 1913 the board of trade was organized, with Mr. C. E. A. Simonds as president.

It was in 1902 that the post office was opened. R. T. Telford, the first mayor of the settlement, was postmaster for the first three years. The board of trade has no very thrilling story to tell of its early days. It was incorporated in 1908, and its first year was a very busy one. The territory developed the town's growth. Just how large a city developed town of Leduc will become the future is a question which time can answer. There are very few towns and cities of Alberta which have already outstripped the progress of their early residents. It may be safe to attempt a guess. It is safe to say that, on a municipal level, Leduc is even yet in its infancy.

YOUNG HERD IN LEUDUC DISTRICT

No large stock ranches characterize the Leduc section, but many farmers feed a small herd.

There is also a cheese factory at Bedford, some miles west of Leduc, which is producing a fairly large supply of this edible. The names of even the principal farmers who devote themselves to dairying would be too numerous to mention, but taking a few names of random ones finds W. Hestley, J. Melroe, D. Wilkinson, J. Laid, O. Curry, Mrs. J. Hickey, J. Bely, T. O. Heston, J. Pock, and a host of others.

Next to dairying comes the raising of hogs and cattle for butchering. The two butchers in Leduc, T. Hull and H. P. Plater, can handle all the cattle that the farmer has in sell them, as they make large shipments of cattle and hogs to Edmonton, the capital, and Calgary every month, besides supplying the wants of their local customers.

Mr. Hull ships seven or eight car loads of cattle every month, while it is usual for him to ship two car loads of hogs per week. Mr. Plater also ships hogs and beef to Edmonton and some to Calgary in large quantities, so the farmer need never be afraid of not having a new market, no matter what quantity of hogs and cattle he intends to raise. Some of the chief suppliers of beef in the Leduc district are Ed. Sudwick, J. Daly, Rosenberg, J. Wood, J. Burns, etc., and those chiefly noted for hog raising are J. Forrester, Bob Brown, Mrs. J. Hickey, and many others.

It is a question why there are not more sheep raised in these parts, as good prices can be obtained for mutton, but the fact remains that there are only two or three farmers who do anything in this line, the chief of these being Mr. Brodner, who owns a fine bunch of 60 or 70 first class animals. Dairymen as of course, played an all-important part in making for their success, and will continue to do so as long as they continue to farm in the vicinity of Leduc.

It is rather remarkable what profits there are to be made along this line for the average farmer with an average herd of cattle, and it must be admitted that the majority of the cattle seen on the farms a few miles out of town are nothing much above the average in looks. This being the case, the question presents itself—how large would be the profits to those who give their whole attention to raising first class dairy cattle?

NO STRINGENCY IS FELT HERE

Volume of Trade is Equal to That of Last Year and Cash Sales are Larger.

"Trade is as good this year as last year," declared G. W. Gatz, speaking to a Capital representative at Leduc the other evening. "The proportion of cash sales is even better. I can't say that we have had any stringency. Business has moved right along. I think that much of this money business is that people set in the habit of talking about hard times and gloom on them."

"There is every promise of most excellent crops in this district this year," continued Mr. Gatz, when asked relative to this point. "I have never seen any better. Within another 10 days hay will be over. Next week farmers will begin grain cutting. Driving in the country the other day I noticed some barley cutting now."

"Leduc wants a flour mill," said Mr. Gatz, without the necessity of any suggestion. "This is a very good location for such an enterprise. There was one here some years ago when the country was developed as much as now, and it did very well. Unfortunately it was burned. Since that time efforts have been made to get another mill here and we all but succeeded. A gentleman here has been provided with a flour mill. The concern went as far as to put up a cash deposit. Then came along what the financial world calls a financial stringency and a crisis was put in our plans temporarily, anyway."

SUPPLIED OVER LUMBER

The Leduc district comes very near supplying its own lumber. This is especially true in the rural settlements. The farmer cuts his own and hauls them to an adjacent mill where they are cut into rough lumber. He builds his barns and buildings and even his house of this. For finished lumber he hauls his rough lumber to Leduc and has it planed. This can be procured on the toll system, so that the Leduc mill can erect his house, barns and outbuildings out of lumber without the expenditure of any real money for lumber.

TOWN'S DRUG STORE IS FULLY EQUIPPED

Leduc Residents Find No Difficulty Whatsoever in Obtaining What is Wanted in the Drug, etc., Lines.

The large number of household necessities and articles of every day use which go to make up the stock of the twentieth century drug store have made this institution one of paramount importance in any trade centre. "Busy Leduc" is very fortunate in having so well-stocked and up-to-date a pharmacy as the Leduc Drug Store, of which Mr. J. H. Wilson is proprietor. Mr. Wilson is a druggist of several years' experience, a registered pharmacist, and he conducts in this town an establishment which is a credit to his enterprise as well as to the town. A full and complete stock of high grade drugs and chemicals is carried at all times and sold at fair prices. Toilet articles, stationery, sundries, etc., are in pleasing variety, while an ice cream parlor and soda fountain is operated in connection. Mr. Wilson carries a specialty of filling prescriptions and exercises the most painstaking care in all work of this kind, using only the purest of drugs and giving entire satisfaction in each case. His volume of trade is large and continually expanding, and is well deserved. Mr. Wilson is local agent for the government telephone system.

LEDUC SETTLER FINDS AMPLE LUMBER SUPPLY

Everything in the Building Line is Carried by the J. F. Stiles' Lumber.

There has always been a good demand for building materials at Leduc. The continued increase in the prosperity of the farming community and of the business men of the town itself has been responsible for this demand. As the land is cultivated, more and more, and as business continues to expand at a very healthy rate, there is every indication that this demand will continue to increase steadily for many years to come.

A firm which has always had the supply ready to meet the demand, and which is at present transacting a highly satisfactory business in "Busy Leduc" is that of J. F. Stiles. Mr. Stiles carries a complete yard and is planning mill on Main street, where he carries large stocks of rough and dressed lumber, lath, shingles, flooring, sash and doors, other building materials, and contractors' and builders' supplies of all kinds. Satisfaction is the motto of this establishment, and only the best and most dependable materials are handled. Mr. Stiles has made a very valuable reputation in Leduc for honest and straightforward methods in all transactions, and on this account has secured a good percentage of the trade of this section.

Leduc section supplies many tankard posts and poles. Throughout the year there are many cars shipped from here. Also considerable cordwood is shipped in Edmonton wood yards from this point. By this market for posts and cordwood, the settler is often enabled to clear his quarter at no loss whatsoever.

HARDWARE BUSINESS UP TO THE MINUTE

C. W. Gatz's Business House on Main Street One Which is of Considerable Credit to the Town

A hardware business is generally considered a barometer of trade in any community. Its interests are associated with the growth and development of the territory it supplies. The town of Leduc has reason to be more than satisfied with the business houses of this character. Conspicuous in the commercial life of the town is the business house of C. W. Gatz, the popular store for shelf and heavy hardware, sporting goods, agricultural tools, furniture, cutlery and household furnishings.

The store of Mr. Gatz is modern and up-to-date, even to a cash-trolley system for enabling rapid transaction of business and the linking of change without involving tedious delays. The house of Leduc is the gratifying patronage enjoyed by this business house of more than a decade of business dealings with the wide territory supplied by the merchants of this town. The policy of the store is that honest goods, fair prices, courteous service and satisfied customers constitute the most effective advertising.

Mr. Gatz has been prominently associated with the town of Leduc in other ways than as a representative and leading business man. He possesses much civic pride and has well kept grounds surrounding his beautiful residence constitute one of the beauty spots of the town. He is president of the board of trade and has been active in commercial circles during his whole residence in Leduc. He is the first mayor of the town, serving in that capacity for three years.

Leduc has always found Mr. Gatz a willing and generous worker in any and all things that go to forward the interests of the community in which he lives.

THE LEDUC FARMERS POSSESS GOOD HARNESS

Town Provides Saddle Where This Class of Goods Can Be Secured.

A good saddle is a prime requisite to an agricultural community. A town and its tributary territory is judged by its business houses. The town of Leduc affords a saddle and harness establishment that speaks credibly for the section and those who reside there. In the business of Mr. T. A. Norris there is found the supply for the section that requires harness and leather goods equal to that demanded anywhere. The store carries a large stock from which to select, and the Norris harness, made from the best oak tanned leather in the west, is made in a date manner, enjoys an enviable reputation in this territory.

Mr. Norris represents a civic duty as a representative citizen owes to the town and community in which he lives, and he has always been willing to give his time and assistance to anything that tends to promote the interests of this progressive section. He is mayor of the town, and his administration has a wide scope of municipal economies and modern principles and policies which promise to be of sterling worth to busy Leduc.

BUILDINGS IMPROVING

The Leduc section is becoming characterized by the fine farm buildings being erected. The homestead shack or log house has been discarded and the farmers in this section are living in good comfortable houses, built of lumber. Their barns are becoming spacious, built upon scientific principles. The entire community has, during the past few years, picked up to a great extent and has become a prosperous community could be found. This is very remarkable, considering the remoteness of the country.

Leduc fair grounds afford a good half mile race track and racing is very popular there.

WALDORF HOTEL IS FIRST CLASS HOUSE

Commodious Accommodations and Courteous Treatment Make This Hotel a Popular Hostelry.

Nothing has more to do with the impression which a stranger forms of a town which he receives in his hotel. In Leduc the man who stops at the Waldorf will be very favorably impressed. This house is nicely located a block from the C.P.R. station and in the centre of the business section.

In connection with his ready business Mr. Carroll is agent for G. P. T. lands, being one of the very few agents whom the G. P. T. lands department retained in the province this spring when they eliminated the agent system. In 1911 Mr. Carroll ranked second best salesman in the province for G. P. T. lands and in 1912 he headed the list. For years he was secretary of the Leduc fair association and made the job.

The town will lay cement walks throughout the business district next year.

SWISS CHEESE IMPORTED DIRECT FROM LEDUC

And Limburger, Too, All Made Few Miles West of the Town.

Leduc promises to spring into much greater fame from cheese manufacture. The nucleus is planted. A few miles west of the town is a creamery and cheese factory providing market for considerable settlement, which cheese factory boasts of a genuine Swiss cheese maker who made cheese in his country made famous by its cheese. This Swiss cheese maker is turning out an article which finds a market in Edmonton for the cattle output. He who has labored under the impression that the Swiss cheese was made in the fashionable cafe is necessarily made in Switzerland is therefore mistaken. It is not convenient for the Leduc dairyman to send his milk to Switzerland to have it converted into Swiss cheese, so they just import Swiss cheese made to Leduc. So there. And the inanity of this particular cheese factory management does not end here. Without any regard for the happiness of next-door neighbors—if there be any so close—this same factory has just been turning out Limburger cheese, Swiss and Limburger cheeses, imported direct from Leduc, promises to make European fashionable cheese very popular.

HAS PRETTY LAKE

There is a pretty lake several miles long and a half mile wide which will be completed by the town of Leduc some day. At the present time the lake is handicapped by weed growth. The town has had under consideration the thorough cleansing of this body of water, during it tidily at the town end. With this improvement there would be afforded the most beautiful little pleasure lake in this part of the country.

YOU MAY BE WATCHED AT TOWN OF LEDUC

Citizens of This Section Find Ample Stock to Choose From in the Store of J. F. Ackerman, Jeweler.

Leduc has one jewelry store and a good one. The proprietor is Mr. J. P. Ackerman, a practical watch-maker of 20 years' experience, who understands the business from all angles and who supplies the people of Leduc with the best. He carries a nicely selected line of quality goods, including watches, clocks, precious stones, cut glass, and all the other large and small jewelry and trappings which which he is to make up the stock of a first-class twentieth century jewelry shop. Mr. Ackerman is the official issuer of marriage licenses for the Leduc district. Being an expert in the repair of jewelry, he is prepared to give his ready assistance to anyone who brings him the best of service in this line and at extremely reasonable rates. It is unnecessary to add that he employs a large and growing patronage for the folks of this district appreciate the advantage of having such an enterprise in the town and as a consequence, when they want anything in the way of jewelry they immediately consult J. P. Ackerman.

Leduc's city park is called Alexandra park.

CARROLL AUTHORITY ON LEDUC REALTY

Is Also the Insurance Man for the District—Is Record Salesman for C.P.R. Lands.

The real estate man who is a credit to the business is an important factor for good in any community and erects more energy, spends more of his own good money and devotes more of his time gratis to the advertising and the developing of his community than any man in any other line of business. A real broker in reality is an encyclopaedia of the territory which he covers and he is the disseminator of optimism at all times. He knows the land of which he speaks, is teeming with facts, bold and unimpaired. Since really men are a credit to the community in which they live and are found in the foreground of civic and commercial activities.

He who is desirous of reliable information as to farm lands in the Leduc section needs to make inquiry at the office of G. W. Carroll. Mr. Carroll has the confidence of a clientele of which any broker might well be proud. This clientele has been built up by years of business dealings with those whose confidence he holds. Mr. Carroll knows the country of the Leduc section. He has made a study of it. He knows valuable as none other and is always ready to give others the benefit of a judgment which has been ripened by years of close application.

The office of G. W. Carroll incidentally writes the bulk of the insurance of the Leduc section as well as the town itself. In short, he is the ready and the insurance man of Leduc. Incidentally, Mr. Carroll is a member of the town council and in many ways has been identified with the town's progress. For years he was secretary of the Leduc fair association and made the job.

In connection with his ready business Mr. Carroll is agent for G. P. T. lands, being one of the very few agents whom the G. P. T. lands department retained in the province this spring when they eliminated the agent system. In 1911 Mr. Carroll ranked second best salesman in the province for G. P. T. lands and in 1912 he headed the list. For years he was secretary of the Leduc fair association and made the job.

Leduc is scarcely 20 miles from Edmonton, the distributing center of the province, hence has an unfailing market.

LEDUC'S FOUNDED SELLS LUMBER

Maintains Planing Mill and Plant for Finishing of All Kinds at His Leduc Yards.

Lumber and all building materials are a prime requisite in all new and growing communities. Without lumber the new western town is sorely handicapped. Leduc is happily blessed in being well supplied with these necessities, the lumber yards of it. T. Carroll and Co., Ltd., some 400 feet thick with lumber, rough and finished shingles, lath and, in short, all that one would expect to find in the yards of a modern lumber merchant. This business concern also has installed planing mills and machinery necessary for finishing lumber. Many thousands of feet of lumber cut from the lands adjacent to the town of Leduc are converted into shingles and finished building material right in the town of Leduc. By having this machinery the lumber yard renders a considerable service to the community by making it possible to utilize the native lumber in the houses of the present day.

Aside from his business identifications, Mr. Carroll happens to hold a most prominent position in the Leduc community, where he is most highly respected. He is the original founder of the town of Leduc, having settled south of the present town in 1888, on which the town of Leduc stands. From the day he fled upon his homestead he has been making in his efforts to promote the welfare of the whole community. For a decade he was past master of the cottonwood and village. He has been a J.P. for some years, and last, but not least, Mr. Carroll was sent to the provincial parliament by the Leduc constituency and for two terms, Member of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police during the strike of the men of the Leduc section. A homesick in '80 and owner of the head of the Leduc section, the head of the firm of T. Carroll and Co., Ltd., ranks well in the early days even as he remains a representative of the town.

Leduc will build an electric light plant next year, according to present plans. The plant will be owned and operated by the town. Leduc lives in municipal ownership of its public utilities.

STREET SCENE AT LEDUC

GOOD PHOTOGRAPHER A VALUABLE ASSET

The Banner Studio, Main Street, Leduc, is Home of Good Photographs in all Branches.

A good photographer is a valuable asset to any community as well as a great convenience. The photographer presents numerous advantages to the locality such as no other artisan can. From his work lasting impressions are made by the stranger far and near. Leduc is happy in having a good man with the camera, and artist in the building room. The W. H. Banner studio on Main street is teeming with examples of good photography from portrait work to views. The panorama of the town of Leduc as appearing on the front page of this issue is the work of this artist. The pictures appearing in this issue are from his studio. Mr. Banner prides himself in the quality of his work, and refuses to permit anything to leave his studio that is not up to a high standard of efficiency.

MODERN PHARMACY HAS LARGE TRADE

Full Line of Drugs, Chemicals and Sundries Carried and Prescriptions Accurately Filled.

The retail houses of Leduc have for years had the reputation of being of a very high class and of transacting a large volume of business. Many of the establishments in the town will compare very favorably with those of the larger trade centres. Prominent among such is Treasdale's Drug Store, Main street, of which Mr. Treasdale is proprietor. Here is a drug store where the best of service is to be found and where prescriptions are carefully filled and propounded on short notice. A full and complete line of drug sundries, toilet articles, stationery and post cards is carried and sold at unusual prices. Dr. Treasdale has come to be known as a careful and reliable druggist who can be depended upon and who has secured a large patronage which is steadily increasing.

MOVIES NOT LACKING AT TOWN OF LEDUC

Latest Recognized Necessity to Social Life of Modern Prosperous Town is Ample Provided

What kind of a town would it be without movies? Movies are about as essential at this day and age to the welfare of a community as the village pump. It requires a showhouse where movies are to be seen to top off a community that has reached the stage designated as a "town." The town of Leduc, of course, has its movies. This latest requirement of a modern municipality was introduced by the town's first citizen. First citizen is right. Herein come true the fact that the first shall be last and the last shall be first. For Mr. R. T. Telford, Leduc's first citizen, has introduced the movies, and movies are among the best of the luxuries that have come to be looked upon as necessities. Men and women hunger for the picture show once a week or 10 days just as one hunders for some particular dish periodically. Mr. Telford, owner of the largest hall in the town, went into the show business a short time ago by purchasing a movie machine and engaging some film series. It was necessary to construct a miniature power plant to provide the place for a motor was hooked up to a gas engine and the motion pictures were on. So Leduc boasts of all the necessities of any town, even to the luxuries.

Since the farmers have gone in for dairying considerably the price of land adjacent to Leduc is raising considerably. Land that could be bought for a few dollars an acre a few years ago would bring several times the amount today. Land immediately adjacent to Leduc has sold for as high as $75 an acre. Of course there is plenty of good land and cheap land in the Leduc section. Out west there is to be homesteaded, even.

Leduc fair grounds afford a good half mile race track and racing is very popular there.

ONE DUTY

Bishop Moore, at a luncheon at Indianapolis, told a story about one of the clergymen of his diocese, a divine model for the large offerings he could always raise.

"Lard," said the bishop—"let us call him Lard"—was addressing last month a Sunday school. In his address Lard likened himself to a shepherd, and his congregation he likened to the sheep. Then he asked the children:

"And what, dear children, what does the shepherd do for the sheep?"

"An urchin piped shrilly: "Shears 'em!"

THE BURDEN

Apocryph of one type of American family, Dr. Charles F. Aked, said in San Francisco.

"Synthe is of this type. A man said to me about him: "Is Synthe in business for himself?"

"For himself?" said I. "No, sir, Synthe is not in business for himself. Synthe is in business for an extravagant family that is at present occupying the royal suite in a six-dollar-a-day Atlantic City hotel."

CALIFORNIA'S PETROLEUM

Petroleum was produced in a small way in California very early in the history of the country—in fact, long before it was invaded by the army of gold seekers. Mr. C. Morrell, a druggist in San Francisco, is commonly credited with being the first to attempt the distillation of kerosene from crude petroleum. This was in 1851, but several years prior to that Andreas Pico made illuminating oil from petroleum which he obtained in the Nevada region in Los Angeles country. This oil was burned, so it is said, in lamps in the mission San Fernando—Argonaut.

"He's one of those men who are always seeing where they could make fortunes—if they only had some more money to lose."

No better testimonial to the merits of bungalow architecture can be found than the fact that the majority of home builders have adopted this style of home building and are building real bungalows in the best residence districts of their splendid cities.

The home we feature today is a typical bungalow. The exterior is covered with cedar shingles stained a dark brown. All trim is painted a cream and the roof is a mass green.

From the verandah one enters the living room, the special feature of which is the large fireplace built of selected clinker brick. This room is paneled 2 ft. 6 ins. from floor and has a beam ceiling. Opening to the left of this room, through sliding doors, is the dining room with its heavy beam ceiling, panel work and built in buffet. The conservatory opens off this room through a wide column opening. It has a glass roof, making the dining room exceedingly light and airy. The coloring of this room is tan, the woodwork being fumed oak.

For a family of moderate size this is an ideal home, and may be built at small cost.

INTERCITY GAME TO BE PLAYED TONIGHT

Calgary Team Said to Be Much Strengthened Since Being Defeated by Edmonton Three Weeks Ago. Game Starts at 6.15 at Diamond Park

Today the great game is to be played at Diamond Park. His Honor Lieutenant Governor Bulger will start the ball rolling at 6.15 p.m. Mayor Short, Aldermen Tipton, Driscoll, East and May, and many other leading citizens have signalled their intention of being present.

It took Calgary a long time to decide on a team, but they have picked an eleven which, it is claimed, is the strongest that has ever represented Calgary. President Gov. of Calgary thinks it is strong enough to win, but it wouldn't do for him to have any doubts as to the result at least before the game. The Edmonton officials are saying little, but have displayed their confidence by relying on the same eleven as did the trick at Calgary. Whatever the result, it will certainly be the fastest and most enjoyable game ever played in the city, and, given good weather conditions, the crowd should be the largest ever seen at a football match in the city. The game will be of interest to footballers all over the province and the results of the game will be eagerly looked for, as it will practically decide the championship of the West. James Caldwell will referee, and President Small of the Edmonton league, with President Gov. of Calgary, will walk the lines.

OUR WIVES

"Stick to your wives, boys. Stick to your wives. Nobody will stand up for you as your wife will."

The speaker was Jerome S. McWade, of Duluth. McWade, on the Concord pier, was giving a word of parting advice to a group. He now added impressively:

"When a man doesn't know enough to make a living, and he's trying to borrow right and left, and all the while is running him down, what does his wife say?"

"George," his wife says proudly, "is far too honest to succeed in a worldly way."

Russ Ford has been hitting fine ball for the Yankees this season, and with proper support should have made a

Frank Chance Discusses World's Baseball Series

Considers that the Struggle This Year Will Be Between Athletics and Giants and That It Will Be Remarkable Series of Games.

New York, Aug. 16.—(Basing his prediction on the assumption that the Athletics and the Athletics will be the contenders, Frank Chance forecasts a remarkable struggle for world's championship honors this autumn.

"The leaders of the two leagues appear to be evenly matched," said Chance in discussing the teams, "and I look for a very close, exciting series. In my opinion the winning club will be the one that gets the early 'breaks' in the play. You cannot eliminate the 'breaks' in baseball and in a series as important and as short as the world's championship it has always proved a very prominent factor. I all the series in which I have taken part it has always been present. Sometimes the 'breaks' came our way and again it helped the other fellows, but I never knew the time when it didn't play a leading part."

"For that very reason I have always held that a seven-game series between two clubs of the calibre of the National and American league pennant winners was not as decisive as it should be. Fully 15 games would be necessary, to my mind, to decide positively which was the better club. Unfortunately, however, such a long drawn-out series would fall to hold interest. Coming at the end of seven months' season, 80 per cent. of the fans of the two clubs would lose interest in the play before the completion of the play. It has been suggested that playing several of the games in cities other than those directly interested might solve this problem. I have no doubt that Pittsburg, Chicago and Washington would turn out big crowds for one game each, even though the Athletics and Giants were the contesting teams. It is a difficult problem to please both player and spectator, but I believe that eventually a more satisfactory method will be evolved for deciding the world's championship."

Should the New York and Philadelphia clubs win their respective league pennants, the world's series of 1913 will be in the nature of a "rubout" at present each has a world's championship title won at the expense of the other, the Giants quickly slipped the championship aspirations of the Athletics in their initial meeting of 1908. Under the direction of McGraw the New York team won four of the five games played, all of which were shutouts. "Six years later McGraw's team secured his revenge for the Athletics won four out of six games from the Giants."

Of the players, who engaged in the series of 1905, Bender, Plank, Davis and Murphy are still enrolled with the Athletics, although the latter two are seldom in the regular lineup. Matthews and Wilkes are the only Giants of those days who still wear New York uniforms. It is a singular feature of the game that Mathewson and Bender, the respective club heroes of 1905 series, are still past masters of the art of pitching, eight years after their initial clash and may face each other during the play next October. To date the world's series has been an excellent financial proposition for the New York and Philadelphia players. The two series netted the club owners $243,187.47 and the players $165,304.81.

FOLLOWING INSTRUCTIONS

When a nine-year-old Teddy displayed the shining new quarter which Mr. Brown had given him down at the corner store, mother very patiently asked if her little boy had said "Thank you" to father's friend.

"No answer."
"Surely you thanked Mr. Brown," she persisted.
"Still no answer. Trouble showed on the little face."
"Teddy listen. You ought to have said, 'Thank you, sir. Did you?'"
"No answer yet."
"Come here, dear little son. Tell mamma now. Did you thank Mr. Brown for the quarter?"
"I told him thank you," he said "but I don't mention it, and I tried not to." —New York Times.

COURT MIXTURE.

Lord Amphil's brilliant exiles have done much to enlighten the proceedings of many an election, for his lordship is a capital reasoner.

One of his best stories is about a native lawyer defending a lady client in one of the Madras courts. The lady was accused of having been seduced by a man of law, but the man of law endeavored to show that she herself had been assaulted, and had suffered damage on the most conspicuous feature of her countenance.

"My learned friend," he said, "with mere wind from a tempest thinks to browbeat me from my legs. He runs amuck upon the sleek anchors of my case. My poor client has been deprived of some of her valuable leather (skin), the leather of her nose. Until we are told what business of my client's leather nose the witness cannot be believed; he cannot be allowed to raise a castle in the air by beating upon a bush."

Lord Amphil does not say whether this quaint plea won the lady her nose. —London Tit-Bits.

hole of gumbo mud until the hoisting of the rear axle was embedded in the road to a depth of six inches. The car was twisted in such a manner as to cause the radiator to be lined up with the left rear wheel. A tremendous strain was put on the frame, which caused the paint to be peeled off in several places and doors of the body out of line as much as two inches. On one door the hinges were completely pulled off the post. The car laid in this position for three hours and when taken out of the hole showed that no permanent set had developed in any part. The doors easily went back into place and all other parts were in perfect condition. The flexible mounting of the radiator and the motor's three point suspension was the only thing that saved the car from destruction.

"While it is not advisable to lubricate the contract points in the distributor of the Delco electric lighting, starting and ignition system the entire trip was made with this device running and operating perfectly in a bath of grease.

"Before leaving Indianapolis, I purposely loosened up all the connecting rod and crank shaft bearings and let them pound. Strenuous efforts were made to destroy these bearings. No change was made on the trip and they are in good condition on their arrival here.

"The springs were given a straining test. Before leaving Indianapolis, the Detroit Steel products company's representative offered a big dinner for any party if we would break any part of the springs. The spring test was at high and low speed over rough courses. In one instance the shaking up of Pettibone and Turner was so severe that they left the bones of the car.

"An innumerable instances I tested the circuit breaker which protects the electric lighting, starting and ignition system from damage due to short circuit by purposely shorting the lines at different points. The circuit breaker was always on the job to indicate by a buzz the location of the short circuit. All lights on the car, including house and trouble lamps were left burning day and night at various angles and the starter used unnecessarily, even when using the steep east grade.

"These are only a few of my tests. I am sure from my observations that they will be of tremendous benefit. I have been in close touch with my staff of engineers and those who built the component parts of the Cole so that every advantage has been taken of the test trip across the country."

AUTO NOTES

Interest in the automobile business centered around the exhibition grounds mostly during the past week. Several local dealers had good exhibits in various parts of the grounds.

The various enterprises of the Edmonton automobile club have been at a standstill during the exhibition. Next week the club no doubt will hold a meeting and complete the arrangements for the scouting expedition late in the week of the eastern highway. No reply has yet been received from the government as to sending engineers with the party.

A large number of members of the automobile club are endeavoring to arrange a auto tour of the province. Nothing definite has been done, yet but the plan is being seriously considered by many.

The idea as far as it has been developed is that the tour would leave Edmonton during the last week of August or the first week in September, go south as far as Calgary, over to Banff where a short stay would be made, back to Calgary, down to Lethbridge, a side excursion to Maitland or some of the towns near the mountains, east to Medicine Hat and from Medicine Hat back to Edmonton if possible, over some road other than that by which they went to Calgary.

A number of Edmonton's autoists have been flitting on this expedition for some time and it is likely that now that the exhibition is over plans will be completed.

It is possible that they will be joined at Calgary by a number of autoists from that city who will accompany the trip through the south and back to Calgary. The roads throughout Southern Alberta are much better than in the north so that once Calgary is passed there should be little difficulty in making the trip.

Automobiles had no difficulty going to the fair grounds or returning to the city. The new pavement along Kensington avenue and east to the main entrance made it easy to go or come in spite of all kinds of weather.

In former years it was no uncommon sight to see a string of automobiles stalled along the street, all the way from the exhibition grounds. It has rained every year Edmonton has had a fair and this year has been the worst of all. Last year after one or two days rain the roads leading to the exhibition grounds were hub deep with mud and almost impassable. This year with a week's rain, autos and rigs can travel as they please.

Discovered Things. With reference to his tests Chief Engineer Crawford has discovered a great many things that will be discussed at the conference board of engineers that will meet in Indianapolis as a result of his run. These engineers will be composed of men from the different factories on the standardized cars roll of honor, being the men who supply component parts that go into the Cole's make-up.

It has been determined that outside of his carburetion tests, which all engines showed more efficiency in different attitudes, attempts were made to bring the most severe conditions to cause condensation or the loading of gas in the manifold. It was found that it was absolutely impossible in any way to cause loading up, grades as long as six miles with an average per cent of 18 were taken with the throttle wide open, in the attempts of this kind made.

It is reported that the carburetor was perfectly clear at the summit. One fact of vital importance to tourists that was determined by the test trip was in the different grades of gasoline obtainable along the trip, gasoline of high grade down to raw distillate was secured and Crawford says "No noticeable effect whatever on the adjustment of the carburetor or the efficiency of the motor resulted. Gasoline consumption was noticeably low, due to the special manifold."

The party had one puncture in the 275 miles traversed. This was at Sacramento, when the tire on the right front wheel picked up a nail. The tire was changed before it became flattened.

Dropped Through Mud. Engineer Crawford says this for publication "in many places the car dragged through mud to the running boards, both the front and rear wheels leveling off the highway. The evenness of balance or weight on the front and rear wheels saved the car from getting in the hole. In one place the right rear wheel dropped in a
